

In the filing, the WCIRB advised the department that it would review accident year experience valued as of June 30, 2010 once it became available, and if appropriate, amend the proposed pure premium rates.

Now that the June 30 data is available, the WCIRB said it will amend its filing to propose a 27.7 percent increase in the claim cost benchmark.

The Aug. 18, 2010 filing also contained proposed changes to the standard classifications for (a) consulting engineers, (b) land surveyors, (c) oil or gas geologist or scouts and (d) geophysical exploration. After gathering additional information concerning these proposed changes, the Classification and Rating Committee recommended, and the Governing Committee approved, that the WCIRB amend the filing to withdraw these proposed classification changes, and instead, propose only the inclusion of clerical office employees and outside salespersons in Classification 8601, Engineers - consulting.

A public hearing on the matters contained in the WCIRB's filing will be held Oct. 12, 2010, at 1 p.m. in San Francisco. For more information, visit www.wcirbonline.org. The amended filing will be available on or around Sept.24, 2010 on WCIRB's Web site.
